10 BATTLES RAGING IN CHINA 'WAR'

Fighting Spreads, Communists Charge Secret Deal Between Nationalists and U. S.

PEIPING—(UP)—China's long-developed civil war gained in proportions and momentum today. Bitter fighting was reported between Communists and Nationalists in ten different provinces from northern Manchuria to central Shansi.

Gen. Lin Piao's Communist troops reportedly have begun encircling Tiehling, 33 miles northeast of the important Manchurian rail center of Mukden. Nationalist reinforcements were being rushed from Mukden and Kaiyuan in an effort to halt the Communist drive.

(In Nanking, Communist spokesman Wang Ping-nan said a protest was being made to Gen. George C. Marshall, special American peace envoy, concerning an alleged "secret deal" between Premier T. V. Soong and Howard C. Peterson, assistant secretary of war. The Communist New China News agency said the "deal" involved selling the Central government surplus United States war waterials. Wang said such a move would violate China's sovereignty and prolong the civil war. He said Marshall would be asked to transmit the protest to Washington.)

Fight On 10 Fronts.

The increased tempo of hostilities was reported to military quarters in Peiping. A spokesman said "fierce fighting" was in process in ten provinces, extending from Manchuria to Shantung and Shansi in Central China. Fighting zones were reported in Jehol, Chahar, Liaoning, Suiyuan, Kirin, Kiangsu, Honan, Shantung, Shansi, and Manchuria.

Dispatches from Mukden said the Communists had been attacking railway lines in Kirin province "for some time." Some sections of the railway north of Taolaichao, 90 miles northwest of Kirin city reportedly have been destroyed.

Chinese newspapers in Nanking said both Nationalists and Com-

HALT WORK

Carpenters Stage 3-County Protest on WAB Ruling.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Virtually all construction work in Cuyahoga, Geauga and Lake counties was halted today as 4,500 AFL carpenters staged a protest against a wage ruling by the wage adjustment board last week.

The carpenters' action followed a WAB decision reducing the carpenters' hourly scale from $1.90 to $1.87½. The carpenters ended a 35-day strike July 11, winning an increase from the contractors from $1.65 to $1.90 an hour. The WAB decision pared this down 2½ cents, effective Aug. 10.

Hunt For Three Missing Seamen

NEW YORK —(UP)— Coast guard planes and boats searched the sea off Fire island today for three seamen missing from a collision between an army supply ship and the merchant freighter Midland Victory. One man was killed and six injured.

The body of Michael P. Murphy of the Bronx, was recovered from the water-filled after quarters of the 573-ton army ship FS-231, after it had been towed to port.

CALLED SUICIDE

PORTSMOUTH — (INS) — Coroner Virgil Fowler returned a suicide verdict today in the death of George R. Brown, 40, Portsmouth grocer. Brown's body with a shotgun wound in the head was found on a ridge near the city.

Summer's Due For Comeback

Summer will return.

The weatherman promised that much today as he predicted a return of something like normal late summer weather by the middle of the week. Yesterday's high was only 70 at the Hayesville weather station with the low a chilling 48. Hayesville's readings were among the lowest in the state.

Persistent cool conditions were expected to hang on through tomorrow despite a sunny sky, but forecasters said the mercury would rise by Wednesday.

NAMES FRIDAY TO MANAGE VET HOMES PROJECT

Disabled Veteran to Head 75 Housing Units to Be Built in Mansfield.

As Richland county commissioners awaited official word today concerning the county's share of a $6,000,000 state veterans' housing fund, the appointment of Edward R. Friday, Westlawn drive, as secretary-manager of two proposed vet housing units was announced.

Friday, a disabled veteran and ex-army major, was named to the secretary-manager post by the Mansfield Municipal Housing authority. Chairman of the authority is W. B. Ford.

Friday will serve as authority secretary and manager of two projects, comprising 75 temporary apartments, which are to be erected here for veterans.

Collects Rentals.

He will be responsible for collecting rentals, and managing other aspects of the units once they are erected. His salary will be paid from the rentals, Ford said.

Ford said that a meeting of the authority probably will be held tomorrow to consider bids for topographical survey of two proposed sites here for the 75, government allocated apartments.

Meanwhile, County Commissioner C. L. Shoup, said that the commissioners have not yet been notified as to the county's share of the $6,000,000 housing fund voted by the special legislature.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolf has estimated that the county will get $60,000 from the fund which is to be used for installation of government-allocated surplus housing units for ex-GI's.

Soldier Back From the Dead After 2 Years

MUNCIE, Ind.—(UP)—Pvt. Gene Jackson has returned from the "dead" and will spend Christmas with his family.

Jackson was "killed in action" in Europe nearly two years ago, according to an official war department notice to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jackson, Muncie, and his wife, Mrs. Esther Jackson, Nashville, Tenn.

Jackson's mother received two letters Thursday from an army hospital at Weisbaden, Germany. They were from Gene.

"I'm all right now," he wrote, "but I don't remember much. I hope to be home for Christmas."

It was the first the family had heard from him since September, 1944, shortly before the war department informed them of their son's death.

Packages which had been sent to him were returned and his wife, who did not remarry has been receiving monthly insurance payments.

In the letters to his mother, Jackson said he had been wounded in the knee and arm and had been a victim of amnesia. When he "came to," he said, he was in La Valise, France.

VETS DROP AID

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Veterans' administration estimated that although 67,192 Ohio war veterans had received unemployment compensation, 39,309 of them, or 58.5 per cent, were off the rolls within ten weeks. Only 335, or .5 per cent, sought compensation for the maximum period of between 40 and 52 weeks, the survey showed.

Send Help to Homeless

Volunteers Meet Twice Weekly At Church to Aid War Victims.

Two nights a week volunteer workers at the Christian Apostolic church, Mulberry and West First street, work at the church to make things a little easier for war victims in Europe.

Meeting in the church basement, the volunteers have packed more than 100 boxes of food and clothing for shipment to homeless and displaced persons in several countries.

Many of the church members have come to Mansfield from foreign lands and have relatives in Europe who have given them firsthand information about suffering in war-ravaged areas.

1500 On List.

Started in March in answer to the urgent request of a few relatives and church members in war-torn countries of Europe, the packaging movement grew like a snowball until now the church has some 1,500 names on its list.

Church members donate clothing, shoes, food and funds for purchase of other items to be placed in packages designed as nearly as possible, to fill all the needs of a family. From remnants of cloth contributed by members, the willing and skillful hands of the women make garments, blankets, and quilts. Lard turned in is made into soap.

Men Do Packing.

The men prepare the boxes for shipment. An average box, weighing eleven pounds contains clothing for a man and a woman or for children. In so far as is possible, the needs of the families who write of their desires are filled.

Letters of gratitude from those who receive the packages offer ample reward for their efforts, the church workers say.

Pictured above are a group of volunteer workers at the Christian Apostolic church preparing articles to be sent to homeless and displaced persons in Europe. The church members meet two nights weekly to pack boxes of clothing and other needed items for shipment.

SEARCH TOWN FOR 'FROGMEN'

British Go House-to-House in Hunt For Palestine Bombing Suspects.

JERUSALEM — (UP) — Four thousand British troops carried out a house-to-house search of the little village of Caesarea today in their search for the "frogmen" who last week sabotaged a troop ship in Haifa harbor.

Caesarea is a little fishing village of 300 persons north of Tel Aviv.

British troops under cover of darkness moved into the town after it had been cordoned off.

Palestine police boats off shore and Royal airforce planes in the air supported the operation.

The search was undertaken because it was suspected that some of the villagers were responsible for attaching limpet mines to the troopship Empire Heywood in Haifa harbor last week.

The village, which depends for its livelihood on fishing, recently was reported as a disembarkation point for hundreds of illegal immigrants.

The villagers were screened by the troops soon after dawn.

A security blackout was clamped over the area but authorities announced that a day-long search had failed to find any incriminating evidence.

Bren gun posts were set up on 2,000-year-old marble pillars which are all that is left of the historic port.

Powerful bulldozers cleared the spaces between huts and leveled the ground in the search for arms and ammunition.

The British also were using specially trained dogs which are sensitive to metal in their search for evidence.

IT'S LEGAL

Justice Department OK's Gifts of Surplus to Schools.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The justice department ruled today that gifts of surplus property to non-profit institutions are legal.

The ruling was handed down by Acting Attorney General J. Howard McGrath in answer to the war assets administration.

The WAA last week held up gifts to schools and hospitals because of publicity given to the 100 per cent discount allowed in the transfer of the Thunderbird (Ariz.) air station to the American Institute for foreign trade.

Two Killed In Trainer Crash

NEW YORK —(INS)—American Airlines announces today the death of two men in the crash of a trainer plane twin engine DC 3 near Memphis, Tenn.

The victims were Captain McLemore Elder and Captain William Campbell Stehle, both of Memphis. The accident occurred on a routine instrument training flight.

WILL ATTEND FAIR

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today said he would attend the Mahoning county fair Wednesday.

County Boards Start Inductions After Lull

After a July-August holiday, Richland county's three selective service boards today had received a call for a handful of men to be inducted in September.

Calls of the local boards were for fewer men than they inducted in June, a spokesman revealed, but board officials said they are not permitted to reveal the number of men called.

Reception center lines will begin to form next week, according to a Washington dispatch, which predicted that by the end of September the army's quota of 25,000 men in the 19-29 age group would be met.

During the recent holiday when the War department asked for no inductions, local boards have been registering and classifying men between 18 and 44 under instructions from Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director, to limit deferments to individuals in activities "indispensable to the national existence."

College and university teachers, home construction workers and critical production and transportation workers have been added to the categories for "most serious consideration" for deferments.

CAR FERRIES SAILING AGAIN

Unions Charge Pickets Are Fired on at Detroit, Cleveland Docks.

DETROIT—(AP)—Officers of the National Maritime Union today declared there was no abatement in its Great Lakes strike although railroad car ferries were resuming operations and the NMU scheduled negotiations sessions with three tanker firms.

Two reports of violence marked the 13-day-old walkout as strike headquarters in Cleveland charged a freighter officer had fired two revolver shots at pickets on shore there. Police said the union account could not be substantiated.

In Detroit, Charles Smith, chairman of the NMU legal aid bureau, said crew members of the freighter Simon J. Murphy had been taking rifle shots this morning at union pickets on the International Salt Works dock near the Ford Rouge plant.

Police denied the union claim, and said the freighter's crew had been shooting at rats.

Meanwhile, more than 1,000 workers on 20 car ferries on Lake Michigan and the Detroit river were returning to their jobs.

The back-to-work vote was taken under provisions of the National Railway Labor act, which requires negotiations within 30 days. Operators of the ferries, the Pere Marquette, Wabash, Grand Trunk and Ann Arbor railroads, said negotiations would start immediately.

DRIVER DIES

NORWALK—(AP)—Claude Allter, 58, Detroit truck driver, died in Memorial hospital yesterday of burns suffered Thursday when his truck was destroyed by fire near here.

GOING STRONG

GAR Chief, 102, Looks Ahead to 1947 Encampment.

INDIANAPOLIS —(AP)— Veterans of the Civil war cast aside today any idea that they are holding the last encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

National Chairman Robert M. Round, 102, of Ripley, N. Y. declared the G. A. R. would accept an invitation to return to Indianapolis next year if it were offered.

Convention headquarters reported that 10 members, the youngest 96 years old, had arrived for the convention and several more had sent reservation.

KILLED AT PICNIC

AKRON—(AP)—A limb, 60 feet long and weighing a ton, fell 100 feet from a tall black oak tree in Akron Metropolitan park yesterday into a family picnic. Clyde Sheppard, 30, of Garfield Heights, was killed and his mother, Mrs. David Sheppard of Akron, was injured critically.

M'Reynolds, of 'Nine Old Men' Fame, Dies

WASHINGTON— (UP) —Funeral services will be held in Elkton, Ky., Thursday for the late James Clark McReynolds, former supreme court justice.

McReynolds, the most unyielding conservative among the court's "nine old men" in the early days of the New Deal, died here Saturday night at the age of 84. Death was attributed to a breakdown in the gastro-intestinal system, bronchial pneumonia and "a failing heart."

His brother, Dr. Robert P. McReynolds, said the body would be taken by train to Cincinnati tomorrow night, thence to Russellville, Ky., and Elkton, site of the old McReynolds family home.

Burial will be in Elkton cemetery.

McReynolds retired from the court Feb. 1, 1941, after waging a bitter fight against early New Deal political philosophy.

In 1913, President Wilson named him his attorney general, and a year later he was elevated to the supreme court.

Since his retirement McReynolds, a bachelor, has lived quietly in his hotel apartment. His last public appearance was as honorary pallbearer at the funeral of the late Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone.

Check on Bombing of Yacht

DETROIT—(AP)—A full-scale investigation was ordered by navy officials today in the accidental dive-bombing of a private yacht in Lake Erie Sunday by three navy planes.

Seven fishermen aboard the 38-foot cruiser, named "The Albatross," escaped serious injury when it was set afire by a practice bomb.

The planes, piloted by reserve officers on a weekend training mission, were from the Grosse Ile naval air station. Navy officials said they apparently mistook the white boat for their similar-appearing floating target.

Albert Reisig, of Toledo, owner of the cruiser, suffered minor burns and shock.

Charles Desmond, secretary of the Ottawa River Yacht club who talked to the men when they came ashore, said they related that the planes made three bombing runs.

"On the first run three of the bombs were dropped but none came close," he said. "Only two bombs were dropped on the second run.

"The third time they came down one of the bombs struck at the water line near the gas tank. Several of the men jumped overboard."

A navy crash boat, which a spokesman said was in the area to warn off pleasure craft, rescued the men—George W. McKinley, Frank Szczeiski, jr., and C. H. Richmond of Toledo; A. S. France of Fremont, O., and C. M. Caldwell and H. S. French of Swanton, O.

Reisig stayed aboard to fight

PAIR CONFESSES THEFT OF FUNDS

Ex-OSR Inmates Held to Jury on Larceny Charges; Admit Taking $302.

Two former Mansfield reformatory inmates pleaded guilty today in municipal court to stealing $302 from a construction company time keeper's office and were held to the grand jury on $3,000 each. They are charged with grand larceny.

Ralph W. Cline, 24, a resident of the Brunswick hotel, and Lawrence Fox, 39, of 440 Lily street, confessed to breaking into the North Diamond street office of the Weinstein Construction company, detectives said. The contractor is building the Sears Roebuck store on North Park street.

They admitted stealing a cash box which contained $302.44, smashing open the box and taking the money. None of the cash has been recovered, officers said.

Detectives said that Fox had been sentenced to the reformatory on a theft charge some years ago and that Cline was on parole from the reformatory after being sentenced on an auto theft charge.

Meanwhile, police reported today that burglars broke into the canteen at Liberty park Saturday night or Sunday morning and stole candy valued at $6.59. A pane of glass was removed from the canteen, officers said.

TALMADGE SAFE

Court Upholds Unit System of Voting in Georgia.

ATLANTA—(AP)—A three-judge federal court upheld today Georgia's county unit vote system of deciding Democratic primary elections and refused to invalidate nomination of Eugene Talmadge to a fourth term as governor.

The tribunal dismissed a suit of an Emory University professor and an Atlanta woman civic leader which sought to have the unit system declared void and the nomination of Talmadge cancelled.

The opinion said "these unit votes also appear in the electoral college in choosing a president, so that there have been presidents who did not receive a majority of the popular vote."

George White To Get Job In Jail

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—(AP)—A physical examination was scheduled today to Channel George White, 53-year-old showman and "Scandals" producer, into the jail job he will perform while serving a year's sentence for the hit and run traffic deaths of a newlywed couple.

The jailer said White, who reported to begin his term yesterday, would probably be sent to the jail's road camp near Mt. Palamor if he passed the examination, but might be given a clerical job.

EAST LIVERPOOL — (AP) — Mrs. Winnie Fitzpatrick, 25, of Youngstown, was killed, and her husband Raymond, 29, and daughter Judith, 3, suffered broken legs Saturday night when their car overturned.

RUSH TO BEAT OPA CEILINGS

Farmers Jam Stockyards With Cattle, Hogs to 'Cash in'; Prices Start Falling.

CHICAGO — (UP) — Farmers rushed unprecedented shipments of cattle and hogs to major midwest stockyards today in advance of the deadline Thursday for restoration of OPA cealings.

Extra police were assigned to cope with block-long lines of livestock trucks which by morning dumped 39,000 cattle and 15,000 hogs into sprawling stockyard pens.

The Chicago run was the biggest since 1934, the year of the drought, a stockyard official said.

Across the midwest in nine major markets, farmers sent more than 139,000 cattle and 71,000 hogs to packinghouses.

The rush to beat OPA ceilings resulted in predictions that the United States will be short of good beef and pork by October.

A department of agriculture spokesman said: "We're eating meat now that we should be feeding. What are we going to do later?"

Prices were beginning to drop although the markets were not yet established. In Chicago, hogs dropped $2 from Saturday, and $4 to $5 from Friday's record highs. In St. Louis, hogs were about $2 lower in early selling. Bidding was much lower in Indianapolis.

Asks Russia To Justify Demands

PARIS —(AP)— An Australian delegate to the peace conference today proposed that Russia be called upon to "justify her reparations demands," and asked that a special "on the spot investigation" be made of the ability of former European enemy nations to pay the Soviet's $900,000,000 demands.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov responded: "Australia has not had her fields, cities and industries devastated." He described Russia as "lenient."

BLAMES MATCHES

NEW LEXINGTON—(AP)—Sheriff Clair Butts blamed play with matches for the death yesterday of three-year-old Earl Allen in a fire that destroyed the barn at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Allen, near Junction City. Sheriff Butts said the boy and two others were believed to have been playing with matches in the barn.

PRESSURE ON YUGOSLAVIA PROTESTED

Soviet, Tito Papers Hurling Charges; Two Missing Americans Hunted.

BULLETIN

UDINE, Italy—(AP)—With machineguns loaded and uncovered, an American flying fortress arrived here from Vienna today with a cargo of mail and freight—the first American plane to fly the normal route from Vienna since the Yugoslavs shot down two transports earlier this month.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK —(INS)— A Paris broadcast said today that the Turkish officer wounded in the first U. S. plane shot down over Yugoslavia will be tried as a spy.

(By Associated Press)

The Russian and Yugoslav press charged the United States with conducting a planned campaign against Yugoslavia today as search parties renewed the hunt for two missing American airmen lost in the second of two army transports downed by Marshal Tito's fighters.

The Moscow radio declared the United States was "attempting to put pressure on Yugoslavia" by a display of military might, including the Mediterranean cruise of the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The broadcast, heard in London, said the incident over the two transports and the ensuing United States ultimatum had been "inflated" by "sensation-mongers and mischief-makers."

Borba, official organ of the Communist party in Yugoslavia, said the campaign against Yugoslavia had been "invented" and had reached such proportions "it has forced the Paris Peace conference into the shadows." Glas, another Yugoslav paper, printed the headline, "campaign of lies and slander" over an article in the incidents.

The Moscow paper Pravda lauded Yugoslavia as a country with enough "nerve to stand up to its legal rights," and said the United States press "as if under a band leader's baton, raised a frenzied campaign against Yugoslavia."

Honor Slain Fliers.

Plans were completed at Belgrade for the Yugoslav Fourth army to accord highest military honors to the three American fliers whose bodies have been recovered from the Aug. 19 incident. Their bodies were to be brought under Yugoslav military escort from their common grave at Koprivnik to Belgrade.

The U. S. Ambassador to Belgrade, Richard C. Patterson, who on Thursday discussed with Tito the American ultimatum shortly after the release of nine occupants of the first plane forced down Aug. 9, conferred for several hours yesterday in Vienna with Gen. Mark W. Clark, American commander in Austria.

Turkey sent demands to Yugoslavia for information on the condition of a tenth occupant, a Turkish captain who was wounded by fire from Yugoslav fighting planes.

Vets Needs Home for Stork Gift

(In the hope Mansfield can find housing for some of the 400 veterans needing homes, the News-Journal is presenting daily one typical case.)

Searching for a home is only one of the problems faced by Eugene Walters. His wife, Eva, may present him with a child at any hour now, and the only home he has is a small trailer, located at the back of 103 South Adams street where raising a baby will present trying problems.

Eugene served four and a half years in the Air Corps in South America and Europe where he earned two battle campaign stars.

Promised a place in the Mifflin housing project by July, Eugene still awaits the completion of that project. He said, "I guess I'm like thousands of other vets, but it seems funny to me that industrial housing seems to take precedence over housing for vets."

Eugene's little baby will need a home, and the Veterans' Information center (1703-6) would like to learn of one for it.

A DIFFERENCE IN TASTES

That most suitable for me
With you may prove to disagree.
—Old Mr. Toad.

Old Mr. Toad is right. You will find it true wherever you go. It is well that it is so. Supposing everybody liked the same things—same foods, same places to live, doing the same things. It would be rather dreadful, wouldn't it? Wise Old Mother Nature has seen to it that nothing of the sort can possibly happen. She has provided her children with different tastes. What one likes another does not like at all. She goes even farther than that. She has arranged that the foods best for certain ones are impossible for others. Peter Rabbit lives on grass and clover; Reddy Fox would starve to death on these.

Over in Farmer Brown's garden Chucky, a young Woodchuck, and Little Wobblenose, a young Rabbit, just starting out for themselves in the Great World, had met Old Mr. Toad. Never had they dreamed that there could be such good things to eat as they had found in that garden. Already the little Rabbit had ruined several heads of lettuce and Chucky had made a bad gap in a row of beans by eating the young plants. Now Old Mr. Toad was gravely advising them that they better leave that garden and not come back. If they didn't they were almost sure to get in trouble.

"You say that we shouldn't be here; what about you?" demanded Chucky.

"I live here," replied Old Mr. Toad.

"Then why shouldn't we live here?" asked Little Wobblenose. "I'm sure we have just as much right to enjoy the good things here as you have."

"We certainly have," declared Chucky.

"Wrong," said Old Mr. Toad, trying to shake his head and not making much of a success of it because he has no neck. "We have different tastes and that makes all the difference in the world. Because of my tastes, of what I eat, I am wanted in this place. Because of your tastes you are not wanted. That is the difference. Do you see?"

"No, I don't see," retorted Chucky.

Just then a bean plant beside which he was sitting began to slowly fall over. There was no wind, not a single Merry Little Breeze Anyway, that plant was not bending as it would in a wind it was falling. A second later it lay on the ground. The little "Wrong," said old Mr. Toad.

Chuck and the little Rabbit stared at it round-eyed as if they couldn't believe what they had just seen. Not so Old Mr. Toad. In his golden eyes there was a sudden gleam. He leaned forward and from his mouth shot out an astonishingly long tongue. That is, it was astonishingly long for a person of his size.

That tongue went out like a flash and it was withdrawn almost as quickly. With it disappeared into Old Mr Toad's big mouth something of which the small Chuck and the small Rabbit got only a glimpse because it vanished so quickly. It was rather startling.

"What was that?" exclaimed Chucky as Old Mr. Toad swallowed a couple of times and looked extremely pleased.

"That," said Old Mr. Toad, "was a cutworm. You saw what he did just now. He cut that plant off right close to the ground. It is lucky that I happened to be right here or he would have moved on to another plant and done the same thing. If cutworms ate plants after cutting them off they wouldn't do so much harm, but they don't. They just eat through the stems close to the ground until the plants fall, then move on. They are good eating, very good eating."

"Do you mean the plants? I think so too," said Chucky.

"I mean the Cutworms. I eat a lot of them. That is why I am wanted here," replied Old Mr. Toad.

"Ugh!" exclaimed the little Chuck and the little Rabbit together, and each made up a face.

"I told you we have different tastes," said Old Mr Toad.

"I'll say we do!" exclaimed Little Wobblenose.

"So that is why you better go away from here," added Old Mr Toad.

PLAYING FOR a grand slam contract in a suit, or for a lesser contract in which all the remaining tricks must be taken, a declarer frequently has an option between two methods of striving to get rid of his only losing card in some side suit. If one of these is the setting up of a side suit, for the purpose of discarding the loser, and the other is a finesse, he naturally would like to play so as to avail himself of both chances. In practically all cases, that means that he must attempt the suit establishment first, leaving himself the finesse as a last resort only if the suit will not set up.

At all tables of a duplicate where the heart grand slam was reached, West led his diamond J. Some of the declarers then proceeded to make the contract, but two of them got set. Those who took it on the chin discarded the spade 5 on the first trick, took out trumps in two rounds and then finessed the club Q. When it lost to the K, they were down.

The successful declarers saw that, unless spades were divided very badly, they could set up one of them and on it descard the club 9. They made the important choice of discarding a club instead of a spade on the diamond lead. Next they led to the spade A and ruffed the spade 5 with the heart A, led to the heart J and ruffed the spade 7 with the heart K, led to the heart 10 and ruffed the spade 9 with the heart Q.

That made the fourth round of spades. Both defenders were now out of spades, so the Q was established. All that South had to do then was lead to the heart 9 and use the spade Q for a discard of the club 9 making the balance of South's hand good. Notice that this method was safe in that every trump used to ruff was a ranking one. Also, if one defender happened to have five spades to the K, the club finesse was still available.

Fall Pests Pester Fruit Trees

Many gardeners are solicitous about the health of their fruit trees in the spring, but grow careless about protecting them in the fall. At this time, however, there are many pests which can plague fruit trees if they escape your vigilance.

Canker worms are enemies to be guarded against both in the spring and fall. If not controlled this pest will skeletonize the foliage of many varieties of trees.

The life history of the fall canker worm differs from that of the spring variety in that the moths emerge in the fall, lay their eggs and the winter is passed in this stage.

One method of control of fall canker worm, and other crawling pests, is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. It consists of banding the trunk of a tree, as illustrated. This device will catch the wingless female moth of the fall canker worm as she climbs the tree after emerging from the ground

The fall webworm is a prevalent pest and one to be guarded against if you value your trees The webworm is often not noticed until its web-like nests are built in trees in August and September.

The mature webworm, a white moth, lays eggs on the underside of tree foliage. The larvae feed on the tender portions of the leaves. Fruit trees are on the menu of the fall webworm.

To control webworms cut off the branches holding the nests. Then destroy them by burning. The nests can also be burnt out by applying a torch to them. In the latter case take care not to injure the tree with the flames

Child Can Be Trained To Disobey

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

"DON'T do that," says the mother to four-year-old Jimmy. Jimmy continues to scratch the bark on the tree with a stick.

"Don't do that," the mother repeats a little louder. Jimmy goes on scratching.

"Don't do that, I tell you!" shouts the mother still louder and faster, as she starts to pull the lad away. Jimmy escapes. He is annoyed, so is his mother. This tot has had good training in disobedience.

Heard Mother.

Now, Jimmy heard his mother in the first instance. Why did he not obey? Because his mother did not really mean "Don't" when she said it. "No" or "Don't" to Jimmy had never been connected closely and certainly with pain. Jimmy was sure in this case that his mother would not spank him but would just pull him away from the tree and add a few sharp words of rebuke.

What should this mother have done? She should have given the forbidding just once. Then if he did not stop immediately, she should have seized him suddenly, turned him over her knee and given him a sound spanking.

Apparently, this mother was thinking only of keeping Jimmy from injuring the tree. She was not concerned primarily with training him to obey. When you say "No" or "Don't" to a young child, repeat it not nor pull the child away from what he is forbidden to do; give him instant pain.

Follows Simple Rule.

If you follow this simple rule, being careful to say either word rarely and wisely, it will, when uttered, bring desired obedience Besides, the child will have learned quickly to avoid the few forbidden things permanently.

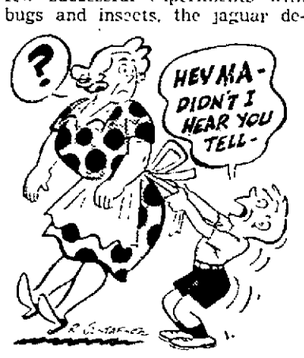
Notice that this mother said "Don't" a little louder on each repetition She had grown more angry at the youngster's disobedience and at her own inefficiency. To the child, her voice had become painful but not painful enough to stop him.

The wise parent rarely says "No" or "Don't," but having said it once does not repeat it.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

A Brazilian legend concerns a jaguar who persuaded a cat to teach him how to jump After a few successful experiments with bugs and insects, the jaguar decided to try out his new technique on the cat itself.



The cat, however, jumped out of danger like a flash, and the jaguar landed in a heap. "That isn't fair," whined the jaguar. "You didn't teach me that trick."

"A smart teacher," the cat reminded him, "never teaches a pupil all his tricks."

Walter Johnson, one of the greatest stars in baseball history, was asked how he pitched to Ty Cobb. "I used to give him the best I had," reminisced Johnson, "and then I ran over to back up third base."

Little Willie tugged at his mother's apron strings "Ma, didn't I hear you tell Aunt Mary that I have your eyes and daddy's nose?" "Yes, you did," said his mother indulgently. "Well, look at me now, Ma," said Willie. "I got Grandpa's teeth."

Dime an Ounce Postage Plan

NEW YORK—(INS)—The post office department was revealed today to be planning a world-wide air mail tariff of 10 cents a half-ounce, possibly by Oct. 1.

Assistant Postmaster General Gael E. Sullivan told the World Congress on Air Education the proposal will be presented to the Pan-American Postal Union conference in Rio de Janeiro next month.

Current air mail rates include 30 cents to Europe and as high as 70 cents to the Orient and Australia.

The gateway to Great Britain for most American tourists at Southampton will be equipped with all modern travel facilities, replacing the 33 structures destroyed by bombing, as part of a $5,000,000 reconstruction plan, according to British Railways.

Jack Lait — On Broadway

CHARLIE THE CHISEL was a "four-time loser," meaning he had served that number of felony sentences. He was a burglar. He would dress in workman's clothes, overalls and jacket to match. He had a long secret pocket sewn into the jeans, in which he carried a lengthy jimmie — a lightweight crowbar — with which he forced windows.

He often worked in daylight. Passersby, if they saw him, took him for a repairman and seldom bothered to question his activities.

His specialty was second-story work, meaning that he would get into and go through the sleeping-rooms above while the family was downstairs having dinner. If he made a haul worth $20, it was a good day, for his wants were modest, his habits temperate. He was a bachelor.

He lived with his sister, who had two boys—Frankie, aged nine, and Dickie, aged six. Charlie was very fond of them.

About a week before Christmas, he jimmied into a place far from his customary type of operations—a little toy store on a side street. I met him walking briskly with a number of bundles high in his arms. He beckoned me into an alley, under the El, and delightedly showed me a wooly dog with glass-bead eyes, a mechanical soldier that walked and saluted, a furry rabbit, a two-wheeled little red wagon and a childish cowboy outfit.

"For Dickie!" he said, his eyes shining.

"But—how about Frankie?" I asked.

"Frankie? Say—he's nine. He's old enough now to steal his own toys!"

The only Rolls Royce in Saratoga belongs to Mrs. Leo Best, of our Hotel Plaza. . . . My item, that the Warner-Joan Crawford contract is unsigned was verified to me. The reason: Joan demands a clause that her every picture be released within six months. "Humoresque" is being held back because the studio wants it in competition for next year's Oscar awards. . . . The 20th anniversary of the death of Rudolph Valentino recalls Harry Klemfuss, who staged the cross-country funeral spectacle, the most brazen, ghoulish and triumphant piece of press-agenting in our lifetime. We find, on checking, that Klem is in Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, where he was engaged to ballyhoo its 450th anniversary. (The day of the pageant, an earthquake and tidal wave hit the country; so, you see, Harry hasn't lost his terrific touch!)

Herbie Fields, the bandleader, had to work fast or lose his lovely young chirper, Mary Ann Dunne. Art Franklin had passed out some pinup cheesecake pictures of Mary Ann. And when her father, who is a minister in Akron, O., saw one in print, he wired his child to quit and come home at once. Herbie composed a long letter of explanation, exposition, expostulation and excuse, with asthesis on the way of publicity men and the pragmatic theories of theatrical exploitation. So far, it seems to have worked.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—It rejoices me to escort to the mourners' bench a sister who has seen the light, Mrs. Elinore Moorehouse Herrick, who fell in with evil companions in the National Labor Relations board and the C.I.O. and went traipsing from the fold with a passel of sinners who mocked the true faith and chalked up heretical mottoes on the meetin'-house door.

Stand up, Sister Herrick, and leave us sing "Hallelujah!"

Mrs. Herrick, who is now a sort of house-mother of the New York Herald Tribune under the title of "Director of Personnel," has composed an article in defense of General Bill Donovan, a candidate, and by far the best one, for the Republican nomination for United States senator from New York, and of principles which these essays have been advocating for about ten years, much of that time as a solo.

Some reactionaries of the State Federation of Labor had condemned Will as an enemy of "labor" and this charge, on close examination, turned out to be a plea for special privilege for dynamiters who hold official credentials from unions. The general, incidentally, is a medal of honor man of the first war and was commander of our spies in the second one.

* * *

"The Anti-Union Act complained of was Mr. Donovan's prosecution, in 1922, when he was United States district attorney, of some misguided and callous union member who dynamited a railway line, wrecked an excursion train and injured several persons", Sister Herrick wrote. "Surely, the A. F. of L. does not condone such acts of violence, jeopardizing, moreover, the lives of innocent people".

* * *

To give her the benefit of every doubt, let us assume that she was being sarcastic here because certainly the Sister ought to know that, short of formal resolutions to that effect, such has been the sentiment of many of its component unions in many specific cases and that the president of one of the oldest national units of the A. F. of L. to this very day is a man who served a hitch in prison for dynamiting as a member of the old McNamara team of demolitionists.

Surely, Mrs. Herrick knows about a distinguished degenerate from Cleveland, an official of Joe Fay's union or racket of the operating engineers, with two previous convictions on charges of molesting children, one a girl, the other a boy, who was convicted in Akron of procuring two dumb Oklahoma yokels to blow up a new building because the labor employed were members of the C. I. O.

In that episode one of the yokels was was killed because the two boys, brothers, were so ignorant that, between them, they hadn't the intelligence to tell time by the alarm clock which worked the bomb. The prosecution here got no help from any part of the A. F. of L., and there, as in the present experience of Bill Donovan, the county prosecutor was denounced as a union-buster and labor-baiter. He got no help from the A. F. of L.

So, if Mrs. Herrick isn't being sarcastic I think I could whip up enough incidents to convince her that the A. F. of L. has condoned dynamiting by members of its family to the extent that it has failed to do anything to punish them.

Now, Mrs. Herrick asks, are sworn public officials to violate their oaths simply because the offenders happen to be members or officers of a labor union?

Although, Mrs. Herrick's piece is a rational, objective, non-partisan reminder that our government and its agencies should not exist to serve any particular groups or elements of the population but should serve the whole community impartially under impartial laws. In that respect, it strikes me as a severe, though sidelong condemnation of the Wagner Act itself because, obviously, that law was intended to and does favor a political subsidiary of the Democratic administration.

I cannot understand how a person intelligent and fair enough to write as she has in 's discussion of outrageous p redatory unionism could restrain herself from damning the Wagner Act, itself, as a wicked law and the source of most of the abuses which she recognizes, because she served an interesting term in the early days of the Roosevelt rule first with the old N. I. R. A. and later as regional director of the labor relations board.

However, it is gratifying to an old and by now somewhat cauliflowered crusader to find Mrs. Herrick writing further that "the truckling to labor 'influence' is to be seen in very high places in the government.

We are a growing congregation, for a fact. Last year, old Ickes, the miser, La Guardia, the belly, and Mr. Schwellenbach, the secretary of labor, lest you forget, all went so far as to repudiate gangsterism and some other more notorious traits of the union movement under the Wagner Act and now Mrs. H. comes down the sawdust trail, a 'whoopin' and a'hollerin'.

Ma'm, it sure is a pleasure.

EGLFING, Germany — (AP) — Germany is getting crowded with Adolf Hitlers and Eva Brauns.

The latest Hitler in a growing crop turned up here in a sanitarium insisting one minute that he was Adolf Hitler himself and in the next that he was pinch-hitting until the real fuehrer returned.

* * *

There have been at least six Hitlers and possibly as many Evas in various hospitals for the mentally ill in Germany since the capitulation.

* * *

Doctors think it is quite usual for a deranged German to get such a delusion these days; it's a little like the Napoleon complex.

Eglfing hospital got its Hitler off the streets some months ago. He was a corporal in the wehrmacht, the same as der fuehrer; he was a painter by trade; his name is Ludwig Doll, aged 26.

Doll formed a "committee" of seven, just as Hitler did in Munich, 10 miles away, 25 years ago. He was all set to proceed when the authorities decided to break up his street speeches. One Hitler was enough.

When Ludwig was taken to the hospital, he stood on his dignity as a true fuehrer. But that got pretty boresome and the party work was being neglected. So he took another tack. He said he wasn't the fuehrer at all; that he had been "appointed" to act for the leader until he gets back from Valhalla.

Doll drew up a new flag for his program; a set of party rules and named a "cabinet" to rule the world. He proposed President Truman as finance minister; Stalin as police chief. Britain, he says, would provide the navy; Russia the SS and gestapo, the United States the propaganda and —of course—the dough. Germany would be the "intellectual leader."

Doll hasn't adopted the moustache. But he gets his hair cropped short so that one lock falls down over one eye reminiscent of a certain character around these parts.

Most of all he wants out of this place. But he isn't going to get out. The doctors know that the first thing he'll do it to get up on a soapbox and make a speech—and there may be just enough darned fools around to listen.

6 INJURED IN AUTO MISHAPS IN CITY AREA

Boy, 10, Suffers Fractured Arm When His Bicycle's Struck By Car.

Six persons, including five from the Mansfield area and one from Columbus, were injured in traffic accidents in the Mansfield area over the weekend.

Most seriously injured was 10-year-old Marcus Fraley of Mansfield, R. D. 2, who was admitted to General hospital late Saturday following an auto-bicycle collision a mile northeast of Mansfield, on the Fifth avenue extension. Highway patrolmen said he suffered a fractured arm.

Highway patrolmen said that Fraley was riding on the wrong side of the road going around a curve when he was struck by a car driven by Ira Holmes, Mansfield, R. D. 2.

Larue Mae Keppler, Lexington, R. D. 1, suffered a lacerated forehead, contusion of the right leg and bruises when her foot slipped from the brake to the accelerator in the jeep she was riding, causing it to leave the road and hit a tree about six miles south of Mansfield at county highway 13 and Woodruff road. She was given emergency treatment at General hospital and released.

Helen Lewis, 27, of Perrysville, R. D. 1, suffered bruises on both legs yesterday when she was struck by a car driven by Hillie Romanchuk, 373 Springmill street, after she had stopped on Orange street near Wayne, to check the engine of her auto.

Albert Arnold, 56, Longview extension, yesterday suffered multiple cuts and bruises when he was knocked down by his own car parked at a Springmill road service station, as it started to coast down grade.

Charles Bloonfield of Columbus was reported injured slightly yesterday when he fell from his motorcycle while riding on South Main street.

Cherron Thomas, 27, of 79 West Fifth street was also treated and released yesterday at General hospital for injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding turned over on State Route 95 south of Perrysville Sunday morning.

3 Motorists Fined $200 On Drunken Driving Charges

Three motorists were fined a total of $200 and costs today in municipal court on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Two of the drivers were involved in accidents.

Ralph W. Wilkinson, of Mansfield, R. D. 3, was fined $75 and costs on the charge and his license was suspended for six months.

Police said a car Wilkinson was driving backed into a parked auto early Sunday morning on First avenue. The parked auto was owned by Gay Gregg, of 304 First avenue, officers said.

Fined $50 and costs on the same charge was Harry W. Buford, 424 Springmill street. He was also fined $5 and costs on a charge of having no drivers' license and his right to apply for a license was suspended for six months.

A car Buford was driving colliding with one driven by Adam Holzworth, Mansfield R. D. 1, late Saturday on North Mulberry street, police said.

Fined $75 and costs on a drunken driving charge was Harvie H. McAtie, of Seventh avenue. His license also was suspended for six months.

Booked on charges of resisting an officer and of intoxication and disorderly conduct, Melvin Stroup, Mansfield, was fined a total of $60 and costs on the two charges.

Drivers' licenses of Earl E. Hershey, 304 Sturges avenue, and Roland Williams, jr., of 170 Crystal street, were suspended for 30 days and they were fined $10 and costs each when found guilty of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle.

Fined $5 and costs each were Maurine M. Garber, 110 Indiana avenue, failure to have an operator's license; Edward W. Dickson, Mansfield, R. D. 4, permitting an illegal operator to drive a motor vehicle, and Thomas Greer, 203 East Fourth street, operating a motor vehicle on a temporary permit unaccompanied by a licensed driver.

A charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct filed against Ralph Wynn, 246 North Adams street, was dismissed.

SURVEY BRINGS LONE PROTEST

C. of C. Gets Little Response to Request For Opinions on Legislation.

Apparently few of Mansfield's smaller businessmen can find anything wrong with federal legislation which affects their businesses.

John Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said today that his office received only one letter concerning legislation during a recent survey of businessmens' opinions.

He said that response to requests for opinions concerning legislation effecting small businesses was poor probably because "business is good."

The lone letter received during the survey recommended legislation which would protect small businesses against losses through rapid labor turnover.

It also recommended changes in removal of federal telephone use tax for intra-state calls and for liberalized postal regulations.

Gangland-Style Shooting Probed

CINCINNATI —(INS)— A man police refused to identify was questioned today about a gangland-style shotgun barrage fired into the home of Mrs. Ola Walker, 33-year-old beauty shop operator.

Mrs. Walker escaped injury when four charges ripped into her home from a passing auto in suburban Newtown. Newtown Mayor George F. Rabe termed the shooting a "grudge" affair.

SEES PRIORITY PLAN FOR JOBS

USES Supervisor Predicts Return to War-Time Worker Recruiting System.

Possibility that the U. S. Employment service will return to war-time methods of recruiting workers urgently needed in industry was seen today by Stuart B. Smith, USES district supervisor in Cleveland.

In Mansfield, USES Manager C. W. Handley said he assumed the plan "would involve a priority system to provide workers for industries the government designates as critical."

Handley added, however, that he had no definite information about the program Smith had in mind.

Handley said industries engaged in the manufacture of materials for veterans' homes, including plumbing equipment, are in the critical classification.

Handley said the regular recruiting program in the Mansfield area has failed to produce the necessary workers for rapidly expanding industries and the booming building program.

DIES SUNDAY

Ernest W. Miller Stricken at Home in City.

Mann lost no time in going to visit his former teacher at Brinkerhoff school, Miss Harriet Haynes, who is now confined by injuries to General hospital. "I can see a lot of changes in Mansfield since I left," he said. "Some of the areas where there were no homes 38 years ago are all built up now."

70,991 SEE REVIVED OHIO FARM EXHIBIT

Grounds Packed For Musical, Religious Events; Stock Judging Today.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Livestock judging and miscellaneous farm contests were resumed at the Ohio State fair today after a total of 70,991 paid admissions Sunday topped all previous attendance marks.

Rural folk—and a lot of city people—packed the grounds yesterday on the second day of the revived agricultural carnival, and they even ran a lot of hot dog merchants out of change. Previous all time high was 63,763 paid admissions, which was set in 1941, the last year of the fair.

Patrol said the traffic snarl was worse than during a football weekend at Ohio State university.

Being Sunday, attractions were chiefly religious and musical as livestock judging and other rural functions were called off for the day. And even the question of buying drinks within two miles of the fair disturbed only a few. Bars were closed everywhere in Ohio.

Sheriff Jacob Sandusky was one of those still concerned. He told city officials they were "hiding behind" the injunction issued by common pleas court, restraining police from acting as enforcement agents for the WCTU-backed 1888 statute prohibiting liquor sales within two miles of a fair.

Mayor James Rhodes replied: "If we violate the court order, we are in contempt of court."

A long list of functions constituted today's program, starting off with a Future Farmers of America milking derby and closing with a "Cavalcade of Music" tonight. In between were flower talks, community sings, lace-making demonstrations, a style show, and sheep shearing contests.

Harness racing was scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

Winners of two Grange contests were announced today by Joseph W. Fichter, master of the Ohio State Grange. Hartford Grange, Licking county, won the senior exhibits, and Sugar Creek Grange, Allen county, scored high in the juvenile exhibits.

Boo Ferriss Taking Bows as American Loop's Best

Hal Clawson

One of the greatest post-war athletic events was unveiled in Cleveland last Saturday with the running of the first National Junior Olympics.

That was the general consensus of every person with whom this writer talked while covering the track and field meet.

The "baby" of Brad Simpson of radio station WJW in Cleveland, the meet turned out to be a fine success while also bringing the sponsors plenty of headaches.

Some people may doubt the advisability of taking boys and girls from 12 to 17 years of age hundreds of miles to participate in such an event. All these individuals would have had to do to change their minds would have been to sit in on Saturday's activities.

Practically all of these young athletes were having the time of their lives and they were under the supervision of capable adults. None of the boys or girls were rowdy. All were simply having fun.

And this brings up the point of Mansfield's participation in the Olympics.

Our local boys, coached by Harry Mehock, Ike Fetter and Bob Shade, did plenty alright against the tough competition they encountered from such cities as Cleveland, Cincinnati, Louisville, Ky., Canton, Toronto, Canada, and Lorain.

Mansfield's eighth position was based on points tallied only by the boys while the other cities' totals were based upon both boys' and girls' combined scores.

Next year an effort will be made to take a girls' team to the Olympics, thus giving Mansfield an even chance with other cities to capture the national title.

Bert Lindsay's 55-foot toss of the eight pound shot enabled him to bring home the lone national individual title. Aaron Butts tied with three other boys for first place in the junior high jump.

Little Ben Annihilates Huge Porky In PGA

Capsule-Sized Slugger Gets Hot On Second Round, Wins 6 and 4.

By LAWTON CARVER, INS Sports Editor

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS) — Ben Hogan, the capsule-sized golfing killer from Fort Worth, Tex., today held his first PGA golf championship after a week of something spectacular but always cold-blooded, steady, dead-eye dick shooting.

Hogan continued a week-long routine of ruthlessness in the sunset yesterday to leave by the side of the trail the remains of big Porky Ed Oliver, sweating, heaving and, by this time all but forgotten. Oliver was trounced and otherwise annihilated by a convincing final count of 6 and 4.

Man Mountain Dean of the fairways, the aforementioned Porky Oliver, from Wilmington, Del., started off as though he planned to do something about the dimunitive slugger from Fort Worth and Hershey, Pa., but wound up punch-happy and all but babbling at the finish.

Porky had this one in his pants pocket after finishing the morning round three up Then he didn't even have his pants.

Hogan was two up after 27 holes of the 36-hole final and at this point really began to knock the eyes out of squirrels from a thousand paces.

Hogan thus remained well in front of his colleagues from golf's meandering trail in money-winnings and tournament triumphs. His total for the year, including the $3,500 from this pro championship win, stands at $33,377.

Mansfield Grays dropped a free-scoring 15 to 11 tilt to the Creston Pirates in the second-game of a twin-bill yesterday afternoon at Liberty park after winning the opener from Skeeter's Sohio Service station, 10 to 2.

The Grays outhit Creston, 17 to 15, but the visitors took advantage of nine Mansfield bobbles to cop the decision. Creston pushed three runs across the platter in the opening frame but the Grays knotted the count with a single tally in the first and two in the second.

However, the Pirates went ahead for keeps in the top of the third when they tallied four times.

Burgraff led the Grays at the plate with a triple and three singles in five trips. He batted in two tallies and scored three.

The Grays scored in every inning but the second to down the Skeeter's nine behind the steady mound work of Bill Martin and Tinkey. Sohio pitchers — Novacice and M. Siwek, gave up 11 hits while Martin and Tinkey were touched for only five.

Indianapolis Wins Twin-Bill, Trails Colonels By 2½ Tilts

(By Associated Press)

A two and one-half game margin separated the American association leaders today following a double win by second-place Indianapolis while pace-setting Louisville was splitting a twin bill.

The tightness of the race probably has something to do with the summer's 1,700,000 attendance, which already has broken the 1927 record of 1,683,963. H. Roy Hamey, association president, predicted the season's total would approach 2,000,000.

Steve Roser twirled a three-hitter as Indianapolis downed the Redbirds 8-1 yesterday before 8,911 fans at Columbus. Ed Klieman scattered seven hits without a single walk to win the nightcap for the Indians, 3-1.

A crowd of 12,067 turned out in Louisville to watch the Colonels split a double bill with Toledo. The Mudhens took the first game 8-6 with a five-run splurge in the fifth to overcome Louisville's 5-3 lead. The Colonels won the second game, 3-1, scoring all their runs in the second inning.

Third-place St. Paul rapped Kansas City 2-1 despite the three-hit pitching of the Blues' Karl Drews, but Tommy Reis throttled the Saints with four hits to give Kansas City the second game, 4-1.

Minneapolis severed an 11-game winning streak of Ewald Pyle, ace Milwaukee southpaw, by beating the Brewers 8-6 in the opener. Milwaukee took the second 7-5.

Does Alright For Amateur

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Chick Hendrickson, national caddy champion for 1946, mentally converted his prizes into cash money figures today and arrived at almost $2,000—a fair award for an amateur.

This is what the blond, 17-year-old Sandusky, O., youngster received for defeating Tom Nieporte, 4 and 3, in the 36-hole final round of the tournament yesterday at Ohio State University's golf course:

(1) A four-year scholarship at OSU (cash equivalent: $1,500). (2) a new golf bag and clubs (cash equivalent: $250). (3) a free round trip to Washington to receive the championship trophy from President Truman (cash equivalent: more than $100).

Young Hendrickson — formally known as Clarence — didn't need his new clubs as he fired away with a steady stream of pars. The old ones worked fine as, excepting on one hole during the first nine, he led Nieporte all the way.

He established two other records for the tournament, too, for one of his 18-hole rounds was an even-par 72, and one nine-hole total equalled two-under par 34.

Young Nieporte will receive a two-year scholarship for his runner-up role.

Soph Hill Wizard Tops Indians, Sox Take Two

Cardinals, Dodgers Split Important Twin-Bill; Yankees Set Fan Record.

By JOE REICHLER, AP Sports Writer.

Dave (Boo) Ferriss, the Boston Red Sox' sophomore pitching wizard, not only is the major league's biggest winner today, but appears on his way to establishing a modern record for most games won by a pitcher in his first two seasons in the big leagues.

Ferriss, whose 23rd mound triumph this season helped the American league leaders sweep a double header from the Cleveland Indians yesterday and increase their margin over the second place New York Yankees to 14 games, already has registered 44 victories in his first two years, only three shy of the record 47 set by Grover Cleveland Alexander with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1911-12.

Wes Ferrell of Cleveland holds the American league mark of 46 set in 1929-30.

Ferriss outdueled Red Embree of the Indians 2-1, aided by Bobby Doerr who smashed two home runs. The Sox won the second, 13-6.

In sweeping the twin bill at Boston, the Sox wiped out any mathematical pennant chances of the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis. The Philadelphia Athletics were eliminated 10 days ago.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, after a seven hour battle in St. Louis, ended up all even in their double header. As a result they remained tied for first place in the torrid National league pennant race. The Brooks came from behind to eke out a 3-2 victory in the opener, but the Cards clinched all over six Brooklyn pitchers to win the wild and woolly nightcap 14-8. The second game was called after eight innings because of darkness.

The two teams will complete their crucial four-game series with one game tonight and another tomorrow afternoon.

The New York Yankees became the first club ever to reach the two million mark in attendance yesterday, but their joy was chilled by Hal Newhouser and Hank Greenberg, who collaborated to give the Detroit Tigers a 7-2 victory at the Yankee stadium.

A crowd of 42,908 watched the single game, sending the Yankees' home attendance to 2,027,087.

Lou Posschl, former Illinois university and semi-pro right-hander from Chicago, made a successful major league pitching debut against the Cincinnati Reds, who divided a double header with the Phillies in Cincinnati. After Joe Beggs had blanked the Phils 7-0 in the opener, the 20-year-old Posschl won a 4-1 hurling duel with Harry Gumbert in the nightcap.

The Cubs defeated the New York Giants 3-2 in Chicago. The Boston Braves made it 12 out of 15 from the Pirates by taking two games in Pittsburgh 7-5 and 10-5.

Washington rallied for two runs to tie the score in the ninth inning, then pushed across the winning run in the 12th on Sherry Robertson's triple and pinch hitter Early Wynn's single to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 5-4. At Chicago the White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-2, but lost the second game 6-5.

Juniors Whip Utica, 22-19

UTICA — Mansfield's American Legion junior baseball club won from Utica, by a football score, 22-19, in one of the wildest scoring games ever witnessed here.

Mansfield got 18 free trips and Utica 12 as the pitcher had trouble locating the plate in a game that lasted three hours and 45 minutes.

F. Davis of Uticas and Meeting, Swank and J. Miller of the winners each had four hits.

73-Man Tyger Football Squad Starts Second Week of Drills With Two On Injured List

By HAL CLAWSON

Coach Paul Snyder started his Mansfield high grid squad on its second week of practice this morning with several of his players on the hospital list.

Continuing their two-a-day drills this week and up to the opening of school next Wednesday, the Tygers will be minus Tom Nixon, tackle, who is in the hospital with a hip injury

Also on the ailing list is Dave Richards who is nursing an infected toe.

Emphasis this week will again be placed on fundamentals and general conditioning

Coach Snyder and his assistants are placing plenty of time on developing sharp blocking by each player. The coaching staff is remindful that poor blocking was one of the teams' weak points last year.

Ball carriers have been given the chance to get the feel of things while running through plays as the line operates against the blocking dummies

* * *

The Tygers 73-man squad roster is just about as complete although a few additional players may report for the reserves squad upon the opening of school.

* * *

Here's the list of gridders who are now working out:

Accent's On the Feminine In College Styles for Fall

LOUISVILLE—(U.P.)—A survey of what the bmocs and bits of date bait will wear back to the study halls and campus coke parlors this fall today placed the fashion accent exactly where it should be—on the feminine.

Women's buyers said the co-eds have an amazing array of gadgetry to amuse them this year. Such things as higher waistlines, lower necklines, fuller sleeves, longer-coated suits and all sorts of frippery.

For the men, a resurgence of last year's style notes was predicted. This means re-converted khaki shirts, ODs and leather jackets.

Few Changes For Men.

Actually, it was not quite that bad, but the men might as well face it. There's still a shortage of their type of clothing. And even if there weren't there hasn't been a significant change in men's college clothes since the boys added an extra button to their coats and pants-cuffs deserted the shoetops.

Clothiers said the styles (what there are of them) showed a definitely conservative trend. This year—without a program—you won't be able to tell a college boy from a business man.

The boys will be wearing the same two and three button coats with their grey flannel slacks.

When they can be found, flannel suits of solid grey, brown, chocolate-brown or blue will be tops. Patterned worsted are almost equally good and clothiers promised a few of them.

Tweeds are always outstanding, but they say the materials aren't too good. Absolutely no imports, of course.

Men's clothiers said the returning veteran presents a case completely new to merchandising. He has no complaints. Just give him anything to get him out of that uniform and he'll be happy.

But there's no hope for the Joe who plans to swing out in a new set of tails or a dinner jacket. Formal clothes won't be in the stores because the manufacturers aren't making any. And they won't be making them until there's a sizeable surplus of materials, according to buyers.

But men, if your own clothes are drab, gaze on the radiant female. According to the houte couturiers she is there for your delectation.

Sloppy Look Gone.

Gone is the sloppy, bedraggled pre-war look. The college girl now seeks to elicit such adjectives as "neat, feminine, sophisticated, sentimental." According to all communiques, college girls actually are planning to tuck in their sweaters at the waist.

Here's one buyer's idea of a girl's basic college wardrobe: a gray flannel suit with ultra-long double-breasted cardigan jacket; something known as a nutria-dyed sheer raccoon coat; a deep brown wool jersey over-blouse to wear under a double-breasted grey raincoat; grey flannel little boy shorts and a little wool jersey crew shirt; a wool jersey two-piece date dress with a high sweater neckline, long sleeves and a black drindl skirt.

If the men are getting impatient with all this grey and black, remember that sweaters are fitted, blue jeans are on their way out, and necklines are lower.

Co-eds also will need a woolen-rayon chenille evening sweater with very brief sleeves. This should have an elasticized off-shoulder neckline to give "that very bare look." It can be worn with other outfits. The campus lass will need at least two hats. One will be a grey crocheted cloche and the other a date hat with much veil and other frou-frou.

For accessories, she'll need a brown bag, shoes and gloves and ditto in black. Girls shoes have passed from the dirty saddle stage, through the dilapidated moccasin to a thing that goes by the name of a "flat." Ballet slippers are good right now, and coming up are little suede boots with fancy lacings.

60 Grid Aspirants Out For Irish 11

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(INS)—A pre-school vanguard of 60 grid aspirants will answer Head Coach Frank Leahy's call for Notre Dame's first fall football practice session today.

Mr Trustworthy insisted he had been attacked by a maniac and violently denied he had attempted suicide because his bank is in a shaky financial condition Needless to say, the "attack" story was not believed, and panicky depositors withdrew savings all day until the bank collapsed

PUBLIC STAYS ON SIDELINES IN WALL STREET

Dealings Turn Sluggish in Wake of Active Start; Some Recovery Noted.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Individual recovery tendencies continued in today's stock market although many leaders held to the losing side.

The public, brokers reported, still remained on the sidelines and such buying or selling that occurred was attributed mainly to floor traders.

Dealings turned sluggish after a fairly active opening but advances of fractions to a point or more predominated near midday.

American Telephone retreived a portion of its last week's net loss of 10¾ points. Supported were Eastman Kodak, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Public Service of N. J., Electric Power & Light, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad and Air Reduction. Stumblers included U. S Rubber, Goodrich, American Smelting (on a sharp earnings drop), Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific.

REPORT THEFTS TOTALING $141

Three Persons Tell Officers of Losing Money to Thieves Over Weekend.

Three persons reported to police theft of a total of $141 over the weekend, including $130 which Wayne Kiner, 134 Willow street, said was stolen from him at a North Adams street restaurant last night.

Kiner said a wallet containing the money was taken from his trousers which he had hung in the restaurant's rest room. Police later found the wallet—minus the money—under a wash room water tank. The restaurant is at 127 North Adams street, police said.

Charles Remmy, Shelby, told officers that two men accosted him on North Mulberry street around midnight Saturday and stole a wallet containing $9.

Mrs. C. G. Steel, 297 Wayne street, said that her daughter, Patricia, 17, told her that a man grabbed a purse from her about 1 a. m. Sunday which contained $2 She quoted the daughter as saying the man followed her from Fourth and Main streets to Wayne near Fifth where he stole the purse.

10 BATTLES RAGING IN CHINA 'WAR'

Fighting Spreads, Communists Charge Secret Deal Between Nationalists and U. S.

munists were massing troops for a large-scale battle at Chengteh, capital of strategic Jehol province, gateway to Manchuria.

Heavy fighting was reported also in southern Shansi, where Communist troops were believed to have smashed through the western gate of Houhsien, 100 miles southwest of Taiyuan, capital of Shansi province.

(The newspaper Ta Kung Pao in Nanking said that Chiang Kai-shek had agreed "in principle" to a proposal of General Marshall's which might ease the situation in northern Kiangsu. The newspaper said Marshall had proposed a reduction in Chiang's demands for Communist evacuation of the Tientsin-Pukow railway. The report lacked confirmation in other quarters.)

Communist Gen. Lin's forces were reported from seven to ten miles from Tiehling. Field dispatches indicated his troops were closing in on the city from three sides.

GALION BUSINESS PROPERTY SOLD

Two Downtown Buildings Are Purchased By Galion Theater Company.

GALION — John Engel, manager of Engel's jewelry store, and Clay Imhoff, manager of Stout's restaurant, today were given notices by the Galion Theater company to vacate the buildings they occupy in the first block west of the square on Harding West west.

The notices confirmed reports that the buildings, formerly owned by Mrs. George Chyba, had been purchased by the owners of the State and Ohio theaters.

H. Fickensher, manager of the theaters, today declined to confirm the sale.

Engel and Imhoff, former Mansfield residents, said the notices gave them six months in which to find new quarters.

Although Fickensher refused to comment on the sale, reports were that the Galion Theater company plans to build a new theater on the newly purchased site.

18 MEN DO IT

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—It took 18 men to complete the task of moving John Porter of Dauphin, Pa., to Allegheny General hospital last night after he became suddenly ill on a train. Porter, 54, weighs 721 pounds and has been playing the role of the "fat man" in circuses for years.

TWO OF the candidates for "Miss America" honors at Atlantic City next month will be these blonde lovelies from Virginia, below, and New Jersey, right. Miss Bette Cannon, 18, of Alexandria, Va., is 5 feet, 5 inches tall, weighs 116 pounds and declares anybody can have her figure by eating all she wants but exercising like a Notre Dame fullback. Miss Helen Sprinitis, right, must have done just that! (International)

Comm. F. A. Brossy, executive officer at Grosse Ile, said preliminary investigation indicated one of the pilots was at fault in not positively identifying the target and that "proper disciplinary action" would follow.

Names of the fliers were withheld.

Comm. Brossy said the area where the mishap occurred—near West Sister island about 20 miles east of Toledo and about 10 miles from the Ohio shore—was in the danger zone. However, he added that the bombers were two miles from the actual target.

Comm. Brossy said the practice bombs weigh about two pounds and contain enough powder to send out a puff of smoke when they hit.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 26, 1946

Anyhow, it's nice to know that the higher prices are now "legal."

The Chippewa tribe of Wisconsin has voted against taking the country back—which indicates that the Indians are keeping quite close tab on things.

Another notable, George White, producer of the "Scandals," claims to have been "asleep at the wheel" when his car hit and killed two persons near San Diego, Calif., last month—but he was arrested for it.

Orgy of Spending Should Stop

OF ALL the issues which will face the next congress, none will be more important than that of a balanced budget. Continued deficit spending, with the war over and the country undergoing a boom period, is the greatest threat to the value of the dollar, the savings of the people, and the future stability of the nation.

In depression times, the advocates of free spending enthusiastically backed the John Maynard Keynes theory, which, to put it simply, is that government must go in the red and prime the pump when conditions are bad.

Now the same group seems to have forgotten the logical development of that theory—which is that in good times government must retrench, spend less than it receives, and build up some economic fat for lean years to come.

A sound fiscal policy now must have three progressive phases. First, the budget must be balanced. Second, there must be an orderly program for reducing and eventually liquidating the public debt. Third, when sufficient progress has been made along the first two phases, taxes on industry and individuals must be gradually reduced.

This is a long-term program and its accomplishment will require decades. It must be the basis, however, of any fiscal policy that will steer clear of government-induced inflation, destruction of insurance values, collapse of the currency, and the kind of general economic chaos being experienced in central Europe, China, and some other parts of the world.

While Drew Pearson Is Vacationing

ABSENCE of Drew Pearson on vacation provides opportunity to present several distinguished guest columnists for expression of their views on a variety of timely subjects.

The first of these, Attorney General Tom C. Clark, writes the "Washington Merry-Go Round" column today on a subject that is close to his heart, the problem of increasing juvenile delinquency, and it should be carefully—and thoughtfully—read by everyone who is at all interested in one of the greatest threats to this country's claim to capacity for self government.

Of particular importance is the announcement of plans for a National Conference for the Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency, to be held in October but for which preparatory work has already been started.

Emphasis on the hookup of local responsibility with national efforts along this line is especially directed to the attention of readers.

Parked Cars On Narrow Streets

WHILE a number of Mansfield's residence streets are too narrow to safely permit parking of cars on both sides, the height of ridiculousness along this line is reached on North Benton street between Fifth street and Sheridan avenue, where cars parked at east and west curbs do not allow space for a car to pass between.

Even when cars are not parked directly opposite each other zig-zag driving is required to get around them.

It would appear that streets so narrow as to be bottlenecked by parking on both sides should be limited to one-side parking—in the interests of convenience and safety. The opinion of Traffic Commissioner Frend Boals on this subject is invited.

Invention Speeds Silk Production

JAPAN may be driven out of the world silk markets by low-priced silk made in America, according to David Markstein, writing in Forbes' Magazine. For several years mulberry trees have grown near Mineral Wells, Texas, and silkworm cultivation has been carried on.

The problem of cheap enough labor to unwind the cocoons has always been a stumbling block to that industry in this country, but a solution has been found in an electronic reeling machine invented by Gustav Beckman. This contrivance makes it possible to spin more and cheaper silk off cocoons in a few hours than several Japanese workers can spin in a number of days. It is estimated that the infant industry will turn out 100,000 pounds of raw silk this year.

No yarn has yet been produced which equals silk in beauty of texture and finish, though rayon and nylon have become serious rivals in the field.

Dancing Has Become Athletic

AS DANCE FLOORS become smaller, dancing becomes more athletic and less graceful. The cotillion, which required great open spaces for its graceful, formal, involved figures, was crowded out by the waltz, whose swaying, sweeping rhythm could do with a slightly smaller ballroom. When dancing came to be closely associated with eating, the floor became a small spot surrounded by tables.

But the question of space was not the only influence at work, according to Bernie Sager, a teacher of the terpsichorean art. He claims that the rumba, which he says could be danced in a telephone booth, is based on rhythms which are in the blood and bones of Americans, expressing their nervous energy and muscular control. Sager, who had been in the show business for 25 years, claims that jitterbug is jiu-jitsu and judo in rhythm time. He taught those arts of self-defense to army commandos during the war.

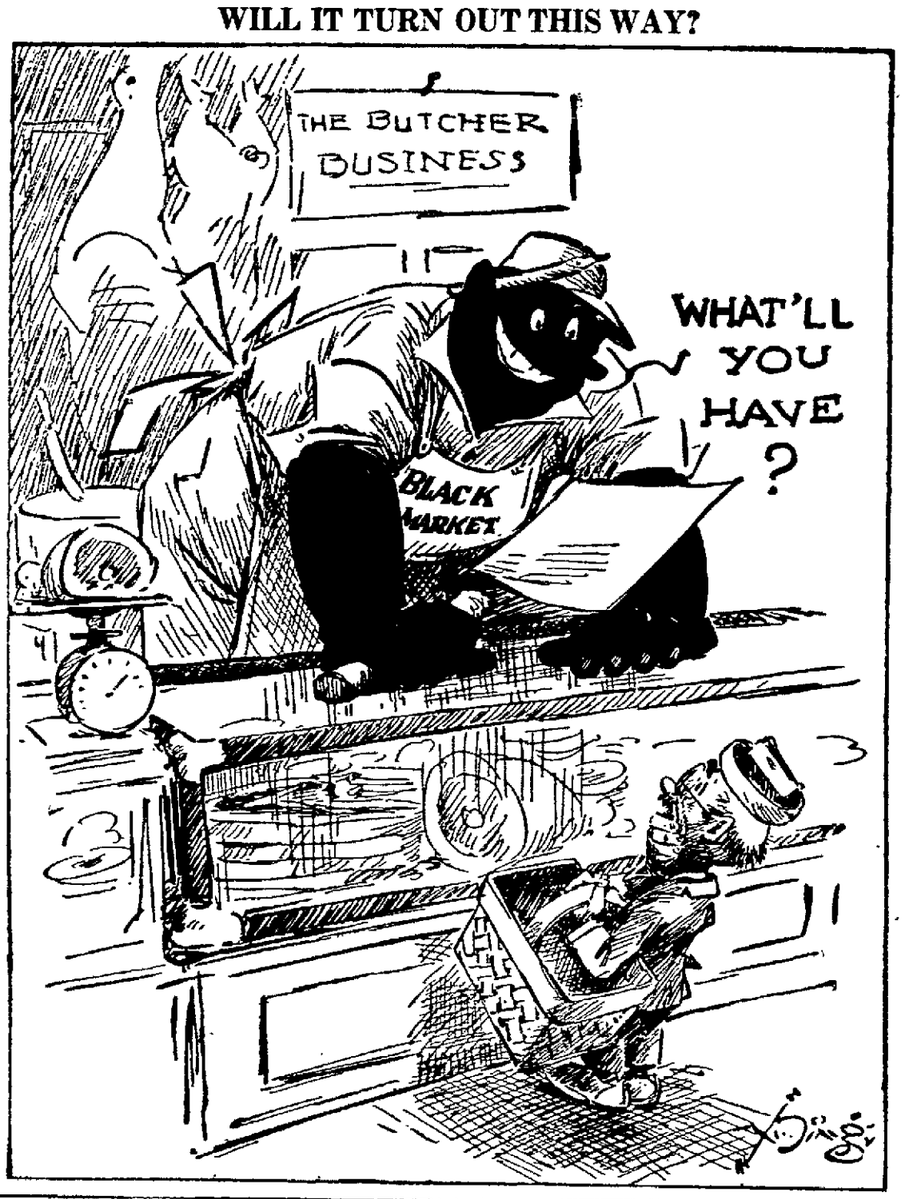
The observer whose dancing days were spent in ballrooms watches the athletic antics on the dime-sized dance floors of today with a sigh that is half nostalgia and half envy of such athletic prowess.

The Columbus Dispatch defines an old-timer as "one who remembers when a lot of folks simply moved instead of cleaning house"—or paying the rent, for that matter.

An upward trend is reported in the zoo price of elephants—but apparently this has nothing to do with meat prices in general.

"Human nature" is blamed for so many things that it's a wonder folks don't try some other kind.

WILL IT TURN OUT THIS WAY?



More Brickbats Than Bouquets Greet Muddled Price Control

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Given the muddled price control law adopted by congress, the problem of the decontrol board was an almost impossible one. It is too early to say how much the board's decision will contribute toward bringing food prices down to lower levels.

One thing its members knew only too well before they announced their findings, and that was that nobody would like the findings. As they anticipated, the brickbats are coming from all directions.

So far as grain was concerned, the board had little choice. The department of agriculture recently forecast bumper crops of all grains.

In view of these forecasts, the board could hardly have restored controls on grain, even though they may have believed it was in the interest of overall price control. The Snafu law made it imperative to decontrol grain and grain products.

Some skeptics are wondering whether the department of agriculture estimates were not too optimistic. Or, rather, they question whether the department gave sufficient weight to the continuing pressure for grain from all over the world. In the past, these estimates have given too optimistic a picture.

On dairy products, the findings of the decontrol board are hard to follow. There is no way around the fact that the supply is short and likely to remain short for a considerable time. Prices have soared. In many communities, the price of milk is 4 and even 5 cents a quart above the old OPA price. Half of that would be justified by the fact that the subsidy no longer exists.

No matter what the bureau of labor statistics may show percentagewise as to the proportion of the average income that goes into dairy products, milk is a key food. It is essential to the welfare of America's children. The soaring price has put it out of reach, except in diminishing quantities, for millions of families.

It is difficult to see how the board could have included meat and excluded dairy products. The two are so closely related.

When he testified before the decontrol board, Philip Murray of the CIO made an ominous and angry noise. He demanded that prices be rolled back to June 30 levels, with restoration of all consumer subsidies. He hinted plainly that, if this was not done, labor would strike again. The action taken by the decontrol board will never meet Murray's demands.

There are good and sufficient reasons why CIO leaders should not want a new series of strikes. Union treasuries have been squeezed hard. Middle-class opinion is impatient with delays and difficulties in reconversion which a powerful and unceasing propaganda attributes to the machinations of organized labor.

But, regardless of their own desires, these leaders may have no choice in the matter. If price rises cut too deeply, then the pressure from rank-and-filers will be irresistible. The probability is for new wage demands in the early fall which may produce a new strike wave. Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers has pointed out that most UAW contracts contain cost-of-living clauses permitting the contracts to be reopened.

Ever since OPA was restored after the tussle between the president and congress, a flood of price increases has been authorized by the agency.

Apparently, these are all necessitated by the terms of the sham law finally adopted. Some of these increases are directly related to the cost of living. Coffee, for example, was boosted from 10 to 13 cents a pound.

Price Administrator Paul Porter has tried to make it clear that the increases were compelled by the action which congress took. Like Eliza in the old-time melodrama, Porter has been just one jump ahead of the bloodhounds of the new law as he tries to find a stable resting place for the OPA baby. His is an unenviable act of sacrifice.

No one can be very optimistic about the price-wage picture in the immediate future. A runaway competition between prices and wages could produce disastrous results. The hope is still production and more production—a flood of goods that will force prices to fall.

Timely Editorial

Part Time Farming.

Many veterans have expressed an interest in part-time farms. Conversely, the number who have indicated a desire for full-time farming is less than was expected. The movement toward decentralization of population has continued through the war years.

Reports from real estate agents over the nation indicate that in all sections there is a strong desire for small acreage homesteads where the owner can combine country with city working.

The experts point out that part-time farmers should choose carefully. The list of desirable factors includes: location on a hard road, a reasonable distance for travel, availability of electricity, good soil, and a house that is in fair condition. Country living plus city work will become an increasingly important way of life for many families in the years ahead.—New York Times.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen

Numbness Caused By Overwork.

THE number of letters I receive, particularly from women, asking what to do for numbness and tingling of the hands and fingers might be regarded as a sign of the times.

Interpreted, these many letters mean that more women are today engaged in physical labor than at any recent time in history. Formerly confined to washerwomen or others habitually engaged in heavy work, this condition is now spreading throughout the feminine world because of the greater demands made on women everywhere during war years.

Domestic Shortage.

The shortage of household help has been one factor, forcing many women to take up unaccustomed duties around the home. The opening of the gates of industry to women as a result of the war has been another, for in many instances, these women have added a factory job to their ordinary household tasks.

Dr. Francis M. R. Walshe of England gives to this condition the long name of acroparesthesia of the hands and arms.

Symptoms are most severe on awakening in the morning, and patients are likely to find their fingers clumsy and weak.

By the time the patient has dressed, the symptoms have diminished. However, the fingers remain uncomfortable and less nimble than usual throughout the day. When the day's work is over, the symptoms again increase.

During the night, there may be some burning pain which causes the patient to awaken. An unusually hard day's work also aggravates the symptoms.

After some weeks or months, the symptoms reach their height and then vary from time to time with the amount of work, fatigue and the patient's general health.

A few discover that rest gives a great deal of relief. In Dr. Walshe's opinion, it is the only thing which will do so.

In the most severe cases, he advises a period of a week in bed with the patient propped up in bed during the day, with the arms in slings. Then the patient may be allowed to be up and about, but with the arms supported in slings when possible, while standing or walking. At this time, massage and measures to build up the patient's health may aid in preventing a recurrence.

Attorney General Explains How Justice Dep't. Will Aid Youth

PEARSON—ATTORNEY GEN . . . (Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists—today's by Tom C. Clark, attorney general of the United States. Attorney General Clark's column takes the form of a letter to Drew Pearson.)

By TOM CLARK

My Dear Drew:

The fact that I have been invited to pinch-hit on the Washington Merry-Go-Round proves, without a doubt, that there is a free press in the United States.

Your offer gives me an opportunity to write a story that is close to my heart—it's just about kids—and that's no kidding.

Most of us know that teen-age crime is nothing new in this country. It has been with us for so long that some calloused individuals have taken the attitude that juvenile crime is similar to a bit of dust. It must be hidden under the rug.

I'll have to admit that I, too, didn't see the scope of the problem until October of last year. At that time I visited a correctional institution near the District of Columbia. What I saw was appalling: Crowded housing conditions, first offenders mixed with repeaters and a lack of supervision in the educational, work and recreational program.

My first thought was that the department of justice could do its bit to erase this blot on a strictly federal basis. I took the narrow view that the department's concern was with the 16-hundred-odd teen-agers under federal jurisdiction. Closer investigation indicated that my attitude was like curing cancer with a mustard plaster.

I realized that juvenile crime—its prevention, control and correction—could not be segregated to either federal, state or community levels.

It's a domestic issue that crosses state lines and community boundaries right down to the home life of these erring youngsters.

The scope of this problem has been ably illustrated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The latest FBI statistics indicate that more 17-year-olds are arrested than in any other age group. Those under 21 represent 15 per cent of all murderers, 51 per cent of all burglars, 36 per cent of all rapists. Arrests of girls under 18 have increased 198 per cent since 1939.

Justice Department Acts.

In February of this year, we of the department of justice decided to tackle the problem. We invited a comparatively small group of people—28 in all—to help us. They came from federal departments, state groups and private welfare agencies.

Their report was short and to the point. The crux of their recommendations was that teen-age crime must be attacked on the broadest possible basis—all the way from the child's home life to co-operation between federal, state, community and private organizations on a continuous basis.

And that's what's going on right now, Drew.

The department of justice, in collaboration with hundreds of public and private agencies, has called a National Conference for Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency.

The actual conference will be a three-day affair on October 21, 22 and 23. But the preparatory work is already under way.

You see, this conference does not follow the usual pattern of Washington "conferitis." It will be devoid of voluminous speeches, frills and window dressing. The participants will work instead of making speeches.

Progress Being Made.

At this writing, we have already accomplished the following:

1—The entire field of juvenile crime has been divided into definite categories.

2—Pre-conference panels are meeting right now. For the first time in this field, representatives of federal, state, community and private organizations are working together in balanced groups. Restrictions are placed on the scope of an individual panel, not on its membership.

3—The goals of these panels have been set. They are to complete detailed reports. A number of these papers are now reaching completion.

Action the Key.

All of this preparation will streamline and make easier the work of the full conference in October. At that time, the participants will also divide themselves into working panels. They will have the task of considering the reports. They may alter them, make additions, delete sections or discard them in their entirety.

Only one ground rule has been set. Prior to adjournment, each panel must bring out a final report that reflects its undictated opinion. The cumulative blueprint will be published and distributed on the widest possible basis.

It is our aim that the drive against juvenile crime will not end with the National Conference for the Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency. When the final session is over the pick-and-shovel work will really begin.

Delegates will be charged with organizing similar conferences wherever they are active. Specific projects may be delegated to individual organizations which play a large part in community life.

In industrial areas, labor unions may have to carry the ball. In rural areas, a great portion of the work would fall to farm groups. In all areas, the peculiarity of local conditions would be the guide.

You can understand, Drew, that we have undertaken quite a job because we have recognized juvenile delinquency as a grass-roots problem. We are all aware that an issue of such magnitude cannot be solved by a single conference. But we hope that inroads can be made.

I can't solve the problem—the conference can't solve the problem—laws can't solve the problem. I can only point the way. The ultimate solution must rest with the people.

That's the story, Drew. I personally hope that you will have time to attend a few of our conference sessions here in Washington.

Sincerely,
TOM C. CLARK,
Attorney General.

Assignment: America

American War Dads, Find Way to Help.

By KENNETH L. DIXON

MACOMB, Ill.—Strolling along through the still green grass across the little campus of Western Illinois State Teachers College, you'd never know that a war had come and gone.

That is, you'd never know if you didn't look down behind the girls' dormitory where they've thrown up barracks-like buildings to house the veterans who at last have come home.

Or you wouldn't know if you didn't take a second look at the students themselves, now about ready to start a new fall term.

Here and there, you see one limping along with his books in his arm—his eyes daring anyone to sympathize. Down through the ravine, you see a youngster in Dakar boots (strictly air corps) ambling along with his wife and kid.

It's the same sort of scene that is being duplicated all across the country about now, but there's one part of the picture which is different here.

The veterans who are starting to school under the terms of the GI Bill of Rights aren't worrying very much about whether their allowance check will be late this month.

Because if it is, they know where they'll get the money—from the Macomb chapter of the "American War Dads."

They can ge it in half an hour's time. And since it's a practical veteran's aid project which might be repeated elsewhere in the country's college towns, perhaps it bears outlining.

It was about a year ago now that the first heavy wave of vets began to re-enroll at Western, picking up their education where they left off. It wasn't an easy job, trying to get along on the monthly veterans' allowance, plus whatever dough they could pick up on the side.

And it was especially tough if the government checks were late—which they often were, due to the inevitable crush on the veterans' administration.

Somebody told the Macomb war dads about it. Q. Ray Reedy, past president of the organization and chairman of its waste-paper drive, doesn't remember exactly who did.

"But it didn't matter," he said. "The important thing was that we'd been looking for ways to help these kids out—and here was our chance to do something practical."

Previously, the waste paper drive—which normally netted from $300 to $500 each of the ten times the War Dads had conducted it—had been used to send spending money to Macomb boys overseas. But now they decided to put it to a better cause.

"We set up an interest-free veterans' emergency loan fund out at the college," Reedy, whose son was with the Marines in the Pacific and whose daughter was a nurse, said:

"All the kids had to do to get the loan when their check was late—or some other emergency came up—was to get a letter signed by Colonel M. N. Thisted, the dean of men, and president Frank A. Beu, out at school. The letter just told who they were and what they needed."

"We loan the boys up to $100, or else up to the amount of their allotment check. Then, when they get the check, they pay it back. Up to now, all the loans have been promptly repaid—and we're not worrying."

Neither are the vets . . . which is why other communities might take notice.

Farmer's Diary: "About Leaf Rollers."

ON THE slope above the highway, sumac grows. The massed line of seeds already show maroon and scarlet. An occasional section of compound leaf is turning red—gentle hint of the flaming riot that will soon replace the jaunty green of tree, shrub and bramble.

This morning I walked by a healthy stalk of sumac. I saw the edges of a leaf rolled back and held in that position by strong silken cables. Each end was broad where attached to the smooth side, and only after I touched the place of joining with a tiny twig, did I recognize the many fuzz like threads that made the cable that held the leaf together. When I pushed the rolled edges apart slightly, the cables grew taut and thin, and a dull gray mesh of web was clustered on the under side, that held it fast.

Other leaves on nearby stems were similarly rolled; some had the roll at the tip of the leaf, some had a broader opening. I tried pulling one apart. The thongs of web stretched more than half their length, but did not tear. Instead, the leaf fiber tore, like a woven piece of cloth. I tested two more rolls. In every case the work of the soft, small larva was stronger than the structure of the leaf it held.

Inside each smoothly formed cradle, a caterpillar lay, screened from the view of hungry birds, apparently eating leisurely away at the green walls of his home. The cradles swung in the breeze—and I wondered if this was a means of wormy exercise.

I looked in on another larva. It was studded with spots of grayish white. The worm moved more sluggishly than the others. It was about to die from the effects of the parasite. I thought of Poe's story, The Mask of the Red Death. Parasites and disease will ravage men and insects. Mere walls cannot shut them out.

Coming through the orchard, soon after this, I noticed a hollyhock leaf bit off at the tip and the side rolled back. Another kind of leaf roller had been busy. These leaves drop to the earth, very soon, and October winds blow them miles from their home sometimes. The various shrubs and trees harbor different leaf rolling insects . . . diet seems to have some effect upon the reproduction of kind. The larva burrow into the earth and come forth in spring as adults. I wonder if they are fastidious about diet. Anyway, the larva on the sumac is quite different from the ones upon the hollyhock.

Styles In Exact Sizes

THREE-OF-A-KIND . . . Practical use of dresses cut to new proportionate size system is illustrated by (l to r) Alice Boyd wearing a "tall," Mildred Dudzik a "medium" and Mildred Antikaimen a "short" all in size 12.

(AP Newsfeatures)

CHICAGO—Women who like to think they can wear "perfect" sixteen dresses may now be able to do it because the ready-to-wear industry has proportionized size ranges.

The idea originated when the bureau of home economics of the Department of Agriculture made a tape measure census of more than 10,000 women.

It revealed that women with 46 to 47-inch busts are no taller, on the average, than women with 32-inch busts. And that, on the average, women five feet, nine inches tall have the same bust line measurement as women only five feet tall.

Combining this information for practical styling, the industry devised the proportionized method of including weight and height when designating dress sizes. Each size number of a dress is made in a short, medium and tall costume that allows for proper proportioning

Here is the way proportionate sizes are styled:

Junior miss sizes, nine to seventeen, are designed with short waists and high busts.

Misses sizes, ten to twenty, are styled for the girl or woman with average waist length, of medium height and moderately small bust line. The medium hip line is proportioned to the waist line.

Women's sizes, thirty-five to fifty-two correspond to the misses size in proportions, but they are made for the mature figure with lower bust lines and proportionately larger hips.

Mrs. Case Is New Officer In D. of A. Council

Thirty-one members of the Lady Garfield council, Daughters of America, met at Eagle hall Friday night with Mrs. J. D. McVicar, councilor, in charge.

Mrs. T. M. Case was elected and installed as associate vice councilor. During the meeting the charter was draped for Mrs. Myrtle Haffa. Miss Mary Beilstein reported on the state council meeting held in Cleveland Aug. 12 to 15. The prize for the evening was won by Miss Ruth Sams.

The degree team is meeting on Sept. 5 at the home of Mrs. L. H. Houston, 106 Lind avenue, with Mrs. H. E. Emerick and Mrs. Jane Taylor as associate hostesses.

The next regular meeting will be on Sept. 6 at 7:30 at Eagle hall. The September birthday committee will be in charge. On Sept. 7 members of the district past councilors will have a picnic in Tiffin.

Washington Letter

—By Jane Eads

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Her guest columnist today is Walter Florrell, New York's most expensive — and most talked-about milliner.)

I KNOW them by their head sizes. Some guys claim they would never make a hat for love or money. Well fellows, the money is not so bad when you think that some little numbers sell for as much as 500 bucks. And what about having Lana Turner, Betty Grable and June Haver all in one afternoon for fittings? That ought to take care of the whole argument.

Also, I have seen Miss Gypsy Rose Lee in a chorus boy's undershirt, where most men would content themselves with seeing Linda Darnell in a sweater, and at that, not in person but in a photograph over a drugstore counter. I have seen Linda Darnell, too.

My current fur hats are called "SKIN TAXES." The other day a lady asked me, "Who could afford them?"

"You'd be surprised," I said. "They are created for people with inflated purses and deflated egos."

I make Camouflage hats—Transformation hats—and Emotional hats. A famous prince came to me some time ago accompanied by a beautiful blonde with a heavy Brooklyn accent.

"Monsieur," he said, "Please make her a hat to camouflage that brogue."

Recently in Hollywood I sold the same hat to Lady Mendl and Shirley Temple. It made Lady Mendl look like Shirley Temple, and Shirley Temple look like Lady Mendl. Transformation hats—get it???

Emotional hats! Ha-ha—those are the ones you bring home and your husband discovers the bill.

* * *

Many people wonder what happened between Dinah Shore, George Montgomery and me. Well, it was like this. One fine a. m. I met them on the lot.

"Good morning, Mr. John Frederics," said Dinah.

Montgomery whispered something into Dinah's ear.

She hissed, "I know he isn't Madame Dache."

By then my three assistants had gathered all the hats to make for a grand exit.

"Charming meeting you Miss Tierney," I said, "and yes, before I forget, Mr. Mature, we all love you on the screen."

That's all.

* * *

A gorgeous starlet dropped by and was patiently waiting for her fitting. It took me quite some time before I got a chance to go over to her. "Is someone taking care of you," I asked.

"Yes," she replied, "but he's away for the weekend."

* * *

Yesterday Mary Martin and Dick Holliday blew in, making a final hat selection to be taken to London for the Noel Coward operetta. While bidding me farewell, Mary said:

"The title of my theme song is 'Alice Is At It Again'."

My advice to all girls—do not take your best girl friend along when you are buying a hat. But do bring the guy you love to help you select your hats because it's hard to get a man—let's admit it—so—why lose him over a silly hat?

And now, I better go and make a new collection for mama, papa, and maybe I will knock off a few new creations for the kiddies, too. Am I kidding?

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—They not only learn how to mind their "p's" and "q's" in English, but they learn a lot of other American tricks at the Orientation Center for Foreign Students and Trainees.

Such as sock-hopping, eating ice cream cones and playing baseball.

The Center is under the joint sponsorship of the State Department, the National Education Association and the District of Columbia Board of Education. It is located at the District's Wilson Teachers College.

Students and trainees going to the center are financed largely by the State Department under a grant, the funds of which are administered by the National Education association. For several years the project was financed by the Office of Inter-American Affairs.

During the past year students from all the Latin-American countries and China, Syria, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Egypt were enrolled at one place or another. The course lasts from six to eight weeks.

Students seeking to partake of the opportunities of study and training in this country go through a screening process by specially selected committees of educators in their own countries Their credentials are then sent to the United States.

* * *

After the student or trainee has been accepted, negotiations for getting him properly placed in a college, office or laboratory get under way. First however, he must achieve a chameleon-like attitude to his new surroundings.

At the Orientation Center he gets this through numerous social events and an "informal program of introduction to American life and customs."

The state department believes these activities will prove of infinite value to the students when they leave Washington to go to schools or industrial establishments in other parts of the country.

Sometimes the Wilson faculty entertains the students at tea and dances. Quite often the center reciprocates with a similar affair. Foreign students enjoy all these activities apparently and are eager to offer what they can of their own cultural and intellectual resources to make a good go of the thing.

Extra-curricular activities include such stunts as repainting the college cafeteria tables and chairs. Reward for this effort was an ice cream cone.

* * *

The Wilson Men's club accepted all the male students of the Orientation Center as honorary members They invited them then to attend a "sock hop," where men and women alike were required to remove their shoes upon entering and dance in their stocking feet.

As a state department official put it

"Many of the Center's students attended, accepting with philosophical good humor what they were assured was one of the more bizzare American customs."

"The Orientation Center could be considered an experimental United Nations in microcosm, in that it is perhaps the sum total of just such personal contacts and friendly relationships between peoples which can create the atmosphere of international good will upon which the peace of our world must depend."

HOROSCOPE

For Monday, August 26.

Monday's astrological forecast shows the probability of some fresh ideas, or unique talent, perhaps new techniques applied to old and lagging conditions, opening the way to promotion, surprising support and approbation from those in influential places.

Originality, initiative and a shrewd new slant may open doors to welcome change and to thrilling rewards and experiences. Dare to be original and "tell it to the boss" who will respond beyond expectation.

Those whose birthday it is may find the thrill of clearing the decks for new adventures, a new job, strange experiences, with an uprooting of irksome conditions, born of new ways and means of handling outmoded situations

Fresh ideas or techniques are bound to establish more friendly relations and appreciation, with the public or employers.

Daring, novelty, ingenuity, attract this support and beget sudden release from tedium and boredom. Romance and domestic change are in sight.

A child born on this day should be qualified to reach important place in life by its ingenuity, special skills and fresh slant on effete and outworn modes and techniques. It should enjoy a romantic and adventurous career, with public acclaim.
